Safeguarding Your Protected Health Information

DMV Community Health & Veterans Wellness Center (The CLINIC) is committed to protecting your health information. In order to provide treatment or to pay for your healthcare, The Clinic will ask for certain health information and that health information will be put into your record. The record usually contains your symptoms, examination and test results, diagnoses, and treatment. That information, referred to as your health or medical record, and legally regulated as health information may be used for a variety of purposes. The Clinic is required to follow the privacy practices described in this Notice, although the clinic reserves the right to change our privacy practices and the terms of this Notice at any time. You may request a copy of the new notice from The CLINIC.

How The Clinic May Use and Disclose Your Protected Health Information

The CLINIC employees will only use your health information when doing their jobs. For uses beyond what The CLINIC normally does, The CLINIC must have your written authorization unless the law permits or requires it. The following are some examples of our possible uses and disclosures of your health information.

Uses and Disclosures Relating to Treatment, Payment, or Health Care Operations:

For treatment: THE CLINIC may use or share your health information to approve, deny treatment and to determine if your medical treatment is appropriate. For example, THE CLINIC health care providers may need to review your treatment plan with your healthcare provider for medical necessity or for coordination of care.

To obtain payment: THE CLINIC may use and share your health information in order to bill and collect payment for your health care services and to determine your eligibility to participate in our services. For example, your health care provider may send claims for payment of medical services provided to you.

For health care operations: THE CLINIC may use and share your health information to evaluate the quality of services provided, or to our state or federal auditors.

Other Uses and Disclosures of health information required or allowed by law:

Information purposes: Unless you provide us with alternative instructions, THE CLINIC may send appointment reminders and other materials about the program to your home.

Required by law: THE CLINIC may disclose health information when a law requires us to do so.

Research purposes: In certain circumstances, and under supervision of our Institutional Review Board or other designated privacy board, THE CLINIC may disclose health information to assist medical research.

Avert threat to health or safety: In order to avoid a serious threat to health or safety, THE CLINIC may disclose health information as necessary to law enforcement or other persons who can reasonably prevent or lessen the threat of harm.

Abuse and Neglect: THE CLINIC will disclose your health information to appropriate authorities if we reasonably believe that you are a possible victim of abuse, neglect, domestic violence, or some other crime. Specific government functions: THE CLINIC may disclose health information of military personnel and veterans in certain situations, to correctional facilities in certain situations, to government benefit programs relating to eligibility and enrollment, and for national security reasons, such as protection of the President.

Families, friends or others involved in your care: THE CLINIC may share your health information with people as it is directly related to their involvement in your care or payment of your care. If THE CLINIC agrees to a restriction, THE CLINIC will follow it except in emergency situations.

Request Confidential Communications: You have the right to ask that THE CLINIC send you information at an alternative address or by alternative means. THE CLINIC must agree to your request as long as it is reasonably easy for us to do so.

Inspect and copy: You have a right to see your health information upon your written request. If you want copies of your health information, you may be charged a fee for copying, depending on your circumstances. You have a right to choose what portions of your information you want copied and to have prior information on the cost of copying.

Request amendment: You may request in writing that THE CLINIC correct or add to your health record. THE CLINIC may deny the request if THE CLINIC determines that the health information is: (1) correct and complete; (2) not created by us and/or not part of our records; or (3) not permitted to be disclosed. If THE CLINIC approves the request for amendment, THE CLINIC will change the health information and inform you, and will tell others that need to know about the change in the health information.

Accounting of disclosures: You have a right to request a list of the disclosures made of your health information after January 2, 2012. Exceptions are health information that has been used for treatment, payment, and operations. In addition, THE CLINIC does not have to list disclosures made to you, based on your written authorization, provided for national security, to law enforcement officials or correctional facilities. There will be no charge for up to one such list each year.

Notice: You have the right to receive a paper copy of this Notice and/or an electronic copy by email upon request.
